PERSONAL VIEW FROM A GENERAL COUNCIL MEMBER

I joined the ATM a few years ago when I changed jobs and realised that I no longer had access to all the good ideas in MT which I had previously been in the habit of borrowing from a colleague. I belatedly joined in my own right and realised that due to the kids being old enough I could actually attend conference. So I did and immediately felt at home amongst people with a similar philosophy of teaching mathematics and started to get more involved.

At first I went to a couple of GC meetings as an associate to get a taste of what goes on behind the scenes. Moving around the different working groups on the Saturdays meant I could see all the different jobs and issues that are dealt with by General Council on behalf of ATM.

Last year I was elected onto the General Council which involves attending 3 weekend meetings a year and staying overnight. I love it. It's like a little mini conference where you meet up with people, exchange ideas, do some maths over dinner and also help make decisions about current issues and the future direction of ATM.

No-one had been really dealing with the local branches for a while so I volunteered to take this on as part of the CPD group within GC and have just begun contacting established branches and thinking of ideas for ways of getting new branches up and running. Sometimes it is hard to find the time, but the positive responses I am getting from people across the country make it very worthwhile and I am making new contacts and friends all the time.
