Colour Building

Stage: 3 ★★

My friends and I are all very excited because our new sets of Cuisenaire rods arrived in the post today. Sadly, I'd placed my order much later than all my friends did and so when it came to making up my set, the suppliers had only red and white rods in stock.

My friends have very kindly lent me one of each of the other coloured rods, so I know how long they are. I'm going to duplicate these rods by sticking some of my red and white rods together.

There are five different ways for me to make the pink rod: